2018 Regatta Season

Sayville Yacht Club is located at Lat 40° 44'00" N, Long 73° 02'07" W, in Blue Point New York. SYC was established in 1901 by a south shore group from Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club. The large sand beach affords facile dinghy launching and retrieval. A basin, dry sail area and 2 ton hoist accommodate the keel boat and auxiliary fleets. Prevailing summer wind is a southwest breeze typically strengthening throughout the day.

At The SYC

In addition to a sailing tradition the SYC is equally proud of its hospitality. Sailors should feel free to avail themselves of club amenities. Cash is accepted at the bar and snack bar. No formal dress code exists.

Getting to the SYC

BY SEA

Sayville Yacht Club is located at Lat 40° 44'00" N, Long 73° 02'07" W. The light signal on the flag pole is Red over White over RED

BY AIR

The area is serviced by three major airports and several civil air fields. The closest and easiest is Long Island Macarthur with Southwest Air being the dominant carrier.

John F. Kennedy International Airport has flights to most places in the US as well as the world. From JFK public transportation is available via the Airtrain with a connection at Jamaica Station to the Long Island Railroad.

Take the Long Island Railroad to the Sayville Station. It is approximately a $10 taxi ride to the Sayville Yacht Club.

The third airport is LaGuardia. While many domestic carriers serve this airport it is the most difficult to use, having little public transportation. A taxi from here will be in excess of $120. Private cars are a better alternative and service both JFK and LaGuardia however the cost is about the same and advanced booking is required.

BY RAIL

The Long Island Railroad services Long Island from Pennsylvania Station at 34th St. in New York City. Amtrak has some service to Penn Station. Boarding at Penn, look for a Montauk or Babylon Branch train with stops at Sayville. Again, approximately a $10 taxi to the club from Sayville Station.
